SPACE MATH

APPLE ADDENDUM

REQUIREMENTS

Apple IIe, IIc, or IIgs; 128K Ram; 1 5.25" disk drive; color or monchrome monitor.

HOW TO BEGIN THE GAME

1) Place the diskette in drive 1 and switch the computer on.

2) The program will auto boot.

3) You can now set the difficulty level of the lander, the math problems, or the hazards. The levels are set to easy when you start the game. You can change any or all of these levels.

4) Now you can use "Set Operation..." to choose which type of math problems will be presented. You can choose all addition, all subtraction, all multiplication, all division, or a mixture of all four types.

5) Choose "Start Game" to begin playing.

USING THE MENUS

The main screen offers two pull-down menus: Desk and Options. Use the Left and Right cursor keys to highlight the name of the menu you would like to pull down. Press RETURN to pull the menu down. Move the highlight bar up and down with the Up and Down cursor keys. To invoke a menu item, press RETURN. To exit a menu without making a choice press the ESC key.

The Desk menu offers only one choice: Program Info. This will display the Copyright and other program information.

The Options menu offers six choices: Start Game, Set Difficulty, Last Score, High Scores, Set Operation, and Quit. They are explained below.

Start Game: Begins the game on screen one.

Set Difficulty: Allows the user to set the difficulty as explained in HOW TO BEGIN THE GAME.

Last Score: Displays the score of the most recently completed game.

High Scores: Displays the 5 all time highest scores.

Set Operation: Allows the user to set the problem types as explained in HOW TO BEGIN THE GAME.

Quit: Leaves the game.

Convenience key

At any time during the game, you can press the ESC key to return to the main menu.

Apple IIe, IIc and IIgs are Trademarks of Apple Computer Inc.
